DE VALERA MAY GO TO LONDON

SINN FEIN PRESIDENT
EXPECTED TO ACCEPT
PREMIER'S INVITATION

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, June 27.—Belief that Eamon De Valera will accept Premier Lloyd George's invitation to come to London for a conference with the government and Premier Craig of Ulster, designed to bring about a settlement of the Irish problem, is expressed in a majority of the reports from Dublin.

In the event that De Valera refuses the invitation it is generally believed the government will make energetic preparations for a vigorous campaign to suppress Sinn Fein activities.

Lloyd George's invitation caused a profound sensation in Dublin. The sources predicting that De Valera will accept are agreed that he probably will attach sharp conditions to acceptance, one being that more binding guarantees than were contained in the premier's letter must be given for the safe conduct of certain other Irish leaders, and that he would insist upon the release of republicans now interned or imprisoned in order that they might accompany him. It was pointed out that the wording of the premier's letter would make it impossible for him to refuse such a demand. Moderate Sinn Feiners are represented as being extremely anxious that De Valera accept the invitation.

BELFAST, Ireland, June 27.—In a message from Paris where he is acting for Irish republican interests, Sean O'Connell, member of the Irish republican parliament, says: "Mr. Lloyd George's invitation to explore the possibilities of settlement if independence is not excluded, will receive the earnest consideration of President De Valera and the Irish cabinet."

Cardinal Logue, primate of Ireland, told an interviewer he would regard any overtures from Lloyd George with extreme caution and reserve. He did not believe and could not see how a more personal

IMMENSE FIGHT ARENA
TO SEAT 70,000 FANS
IS READY FOR CROWDS

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 27.—The greatest arena Tex Rickard has built is ready to accommodate approximately 70,000 spectators when Champion Jack Dempsey meets Georges Carpentier in Jersey City July 2.

Since April 28, more than 600 workmen have been distributed over all sections of the huge octagonal saucer which grew daily under their tattoo of hammers until today, when their labor was completed. The great reinforced structure, covering nearly a third of the tract known as "Boyle's Thirty Acres," awaits the inspection of government engineers and the installation of telegraph wires through which millions of persons, compared to whom the 70,000 actual spectators will be numerically insignificant, will see the "battle of the century" through their mind's eyes.

Twenty-five minutes from Broadway and Forty-second street, a more advantageous site for the contest could not have been chosen. Tube trains under the Hudson river will carry thousands of persons to stations near the arena. Ferry boats will carry more thousands across the river from Manhattan to trolley centers in Jersey City within easy reach of the battleground. More than a dozen trunk line railroads with Jersey City as a terminal will bring their quota from distant places. Several trans-continental railroads, with yards only a few blocks from "Boyle's Thirty Acres" will park special trains of Pullman cars on convenient sidings which enthusiasts from distant points will use for shelter during their stay here.

The arena is the largest ever built by Rickard or any other promoter for a boxing contest. It exceeds by far the amphitheatre in which Johnson and Jeffries met in 1910 at Reno, Nevada, and also the one where Jess Willard lost his title to Jack Dempsey at Toledo, Ohio, two years ago. It has been built at a cost of $200,000. Two and a half million feet of lumber, equal to 175 miles of boards, laid end to end, or about 140 carloads, have been used in the construction.

Better than ever before at a boxing bout, holders of reserved seats will be protected at Jersey City on July 2. Long experience in the psychology of "fight crowds" has taught Tex Rickard the wisdom of precaution. Fences, with barbed wire barricades, will mark the limits of the various seat sections, to which the crowd will have access through 20 entrances. Every seat, except the $5 general admissions, have been reserved, and the holder of a $50 or a $40 seat will enter and walk to the desired point of vantage with as much ease and certainty, Rickard assures, as the purchaser of an orchestra.

INDIAN, HELD FOR MURDER,
KILLS SELF

Sam Cordis, the Indian who shot and mortally wounded Willie Mike, another Indian, at Round Mountain a week ago this morning, Mike dying from the wound at the county hospital here last Wednesday, committed suicide in a cell in the county jail early yesterday morning by tying an electric iron cord about his neck and pulling it taut, causing strangulation. When found he was lying on his back with his hands at his sides. The suicide evidently tightened the cord by main force and awaited the results calmly. When a cord of the kind used by Cordis is tightened there is no slipping or loosening of the knot unless done with the fingers. The dead Indian had been crying at nights and repeating that he had killed his best friend. A coroner's jury, empaneled yesterday, found that Sam Cordis, aged 52 years, an Indian, came to his death by strangulation administered by himself. The suicide's body was taken to Round Mountain where it was interred today.

PRINCE OF WALES
GIVEN ANCIENT FEUDAL HONORS

(By Associated Press)

LAUNCESTON, Cornwall, Eng., June 27.—Picturesque feudal ceremonies of 600 years ago were revived here when the Prince of Wales, who is also Duke of Cornwall, paid a visit to the old-time capital of his duchy. Launceston has been a royal borough since about 1096.

The ceremonies included the presentation of rent and "offerings of fealty" in kind, according to ancient custom. The mayor presented to the prince 100 shillings and one pound of pepper on a silver dish. To Sir Hugh Molesworth St. Aubyn fell the duty to offer a brace of greyhounds. According to ancient usage, they should be pure white, but the nearest obtainable approach was a well-matched piebald couple.

Another ducal tenant tendered a pair of gilt spurs, and others presented a pound of cumis—a salmon spear, a faggot of wood, a pair of white gloves and a rose.

Strangest of all these curious terms of tenure is one requiring the representatives of the mayor of Swannacot and St. Mary Week to present themselves at the ducal court clad in mantles of goatskins. The present-day incumbent, Bethuel Hutchings, stolidly entered this attire over his ordinary clothes on a boiling hot day. His appearance suggested a blend of a modern country tourist and Robinson Crusoe.

The prince, much amused at the variety of gifts, solemnly "confirmed" all the loyal tenants in their holdings.

NOVEL WAY USED TO COMPEL STUDY OF THEIR BIBLES

(By Associated Press)

BOSTON, June 27.—Threats of a kicking in the river may be an effective method of compelling children to learn their Bible but it does not meet the approval of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. Agents of the society have recently induced a modern Massachusetts mother to adopt more approved educational methods.

Investigators sent out in response to protests from neighbors learned that it was the woman's custom when any of the children failed to give strict attention to Bible study to place the offender in a burlap bag, throw it over her shoulder and march down to the river-bank. Dangling the bag over the cold water with threats of immersion usually brought quick acquiescence in her demand for closer perusal of the commandments and beatitudes.

The plan apparently had been in operation for some time for several of the older children in the large family were found to be able to recite the long passages of Scripture without hesitation.

CHICAGO, June 27.—The railroad labor board has extended its wage reduction order, effective July 1, to practically every large railroad in the country. No change from the average 12 per cent reduction which was granted in 1914 carriers on June 1 was made in today's decision. The new order affects 210 roads.

The new decision will make a reality of the estimated $400,000,000 annual savings which is expected to result by the roads. While no definite returns have been announced from the referendum which is being taken by all the railway unions on acceptance or rejection of the 12 per cent cut, it was expected the conferences here on July 1 will agree to accept the board's decision. The new order involves practically all classes of employees.
